Ohh yeah

How could I pretend that we're okay
And build solid ground
When we've been broken for awhile
Told myself there was no way that I could leave you
Now I see the things for what they really are
When this love was crushing down

I use to take the blame for everything
Not listening, no
Told my mind to fool my heart
Tell me what's the point of even caring anymore
Only payed the wait of a broken heart

This broken concrete underneath me
Falling away from love
Falling away from love
Falling away from love

I tried to be strong
But what we built on was hopeless
Now were falling away from love
Standing on broken concrete

Oh oh oh oh
Standing on broken concrete
Oh oh oh oh
Standing on broken concrete

Now we can never make this house our home.
And we knew it from the start
Our baggage weighed us down all along
And dragged it on too far

We tried and couldn't get it right
But I couldn't see you walk out my life
I can slowly hear it slowing breaking us apart

This broken concrete underneath me
Falling away from love

Falling away from love
Falling away from love

I tried to be strong
But what we built on was hopeless
Now were falling away from love
Standing on broken concrete

This broken concrete underneath me
Falling away from love
Falling away from love
Falling away from love

I tried to be strong
But what we built on was hopeless
Now were falling away from love
Standing on broken concrete
