So I'm walking down the street somewhere outside of San Francisco

And I don't really know my way around
And I'd love to stay a day or two and get into some trouble
But tomorrow I'll be in another town

And there's at least one coffee bar for every single couple
And there's at least a couple in this place Strange the things you notice when the walls are closing in
And the walls are closing in on me today

So where, oh where, can I find someone, anyone
'Cause there's no way outta here
But here is where I live and so I guess that means
The carrot's gonna dangle for at least another year

And I love anonymity and I love being noticed
Just the same as anybody else
Years ago I told you how I loved to be alone
These days I'd be perjuring myself

So where, oh where, can I find someone, anyone
'Cause there's no way outta here
But here is where I live and so I guess that means
The carrot's gonna dangle for at least another year

It's like you gave me up, like I gave up drinking coffee
So I guess I would've done the same
And now I know I'm lost somewhere outside of San Francisco
But I'm still glad that I came

So where, oh where, can I find someone, anyone
'Cause there's no way outta here
But here is where I live and so I guess that means
The carrot's gonna dangle for at least another year

And where, oh where, can I find someone, anyone
'Cause there's no way outta here

But here is where I live and so I guess that means
The carrot's gonna dangle for at least another year
