

Caedmons Call

"Love Start Again"

Visit "Love Start Again" on MotoLyrics.com

Words and Music by Andrew Osenga and Randall Goodgame
(c) 2007 House of Mirrors Music (ASCAP) admin. by Simpleville Music, Inc. / 2007 Mighty Molecule Music. (ASCAP) admin by Music Services

I have a constant need for motion I need to leave the past behind to see all the good things I left dying come to life for so long I let the lies deceive me and I let them take their toll but I'm growing tired of the illusion I am in control

you are there in all my histories my victories and pains you are there in all my shadows with forgiveness you are waiting when I need a place to hide

when I need a place to hide

I need hope to start again
I need hope to start again you give me hope, and I need hope to start again into my own hands I take matters cause deep in my heart I stole the throne where you have always led so faithfully I know doesn't it seem I'm always running and most of the time it's not to you (all other ground is sinking sand) give me faith to know your promises are true here is the place where I face my secrets and where I lay them down

