It's a muggy night in Houston
And all the intersections are like full service stations
I'm on my way to a familiar place

It's cold in Kansas City
And you can no more hear me than, than I can see your face
And how I wish it was just you and me

We wouldn't have to talk above the crowd
We wouldn't have to talk so loud

And if I give you my life and all I am
But what I have to give
So I hand you a candid photograph of this little boy
'Cause I have nothing to my name
But I can give you that

See I don't miss the driving, seems like forever
And I'm always driving in my mind
And wearing out the road that gets me there

And I'm driving till my eyes just can't see straight
But I suppose that it's getting late

And if I give you my life and all I am
But what I have to give
So I hand you a candid photograph of this little boy
'Cause I have nothing to my name
And I can give you that

See I may never find the sleep
I've lost all feeling in my hands and Feet may touch the ground but My mind's somewhere north of here

I give you my life and all I am
So what I have to give
So I hand you a candid photograph of this little boy
'Cause I have nothing to my name
I have nothing to my name
And I can give you that

And I will give you that back
And I give you that
