So many years we've been avoiding it
This confortation has been your goal
Finding myself could be harder
Than finding a way to cure my soul
Harder than fighting alone against you
Thin line between the lies and the truth
So if I got lost once or twice don't blame me
There's only one thing left that can save me

I'll be broken by the day when water get's so high
I can't breathe air now
Take it all away and leave me bleeding

All this time has been a nightmare

So confusing , so unfair
You fed me garbage with a silver spoon
I said: "gladly, I'll be your tool
You look so good I wanna be like you Talk like you, forget the truth
Friends, what? I don't think I need 'em
I'm fine on my own they just wanna reason
