These words of love,
hard for me to find;
how can I change my mind
if you can only lie?

These shattered dreams
I try to build again
but looks could kill again,
and I'm too young to die

Smiling faces all around us;
you don't wanna make a scene,
not here not now,
and I don't wanna cry.

We drink the wine
like we were really friends but can our sadness end and work turn into play?

We dress so fine
and step out on the town and friends may gather round, but soon will turn away.

Smiling faces all around us;
you don't wanna make a scene,
not here not now,
and I don't wanna cry.
