(words and music by Joe Jackson)

I'm sinking in
To a sea of secrets warm and green
Down and down
Back to times and places never seen

Now and then
I can wake and I remember
Just one secret thing
Through the rain
I can keep a candle burning
Under the skin of the world

It's sinking in
No need for fear of drowning, drift away
These monsters here
Are only faces I don't wear by day

Now and then
I can wake and in the mirror
Demons turn to friends
Through the pain
I can dig a little deeper
Under the skin of the world
