I was born in the backwoods
Of a two bit nowhere town
Fathered up some rock 'n' roll baby
So you mothers could boogie down

I ain't whistling Dixie
No I'm a rebel with a groove, yeah
All around the world they go 'round and 'round
When they dig on my new stainless steel sound, oh yeah

I say I'm a lumberjack now, baby
And I'm going to cut you down to size
I'm a lumberjack now, baby
And you're the one, you're the one that gets my prize

When you hear my motor running
You know I surely, I surely be coppin' a rise
So I'm gonna crank it up [Incomprehensible]

I'm a lumberjack now, baby
I'm a lumberjack now, baby
I'm a lumberjack now, baby
I'm a lumberjack now, baby
But I ain't jacked my lumber, baby
Since my chain saw you
