(J.J. Dupree, J. Hayes)

These latter days are growing strange
Crazy ways and constant change
And the lines are drawn that we must cross
Across the board we share the loss
And when you feel the door is open
And it's pullin' you in, yeah, yeah, yeah
(Chorus)

Misery loves company
Won't you share what's inside of me
Misery loves company
Won't you share my misery
And now you see a different me
I feel the need I have to bleed
But I can't afford to lose another drop

My soul's been stretched and now it's thin
And when you feel the door is open
And it's pullin' you in, yeah, yeah, yeah
(Chorus)

Misery loves company
Won't you share what's inside of me
Misery loves company
Won't you share my misery
Misery loves company
Won't you share what's inside
Misery loves company
Won't you share my misery
Misery loves company
Step inside, that's what you'll see
Misery loves company, oh yeah
