Curse: Jacob Ray Salazar

Sometimes i feel like im the first on this earth to be cursed with this curse and fall headfirst and when i rehearse with every verse it gets worst and i want to burst cuz this thirst starts to submerge from the sea and i see what it means to be me and now its free and unleashed now im lettin it go and im lettin it out and everyone's gonna be sorry that they ever had doubt

Its the need for singin my whole life into it but i bleed for bringin my whole life into it now this curse is running threw my blood and my veins and cuz this curse i cant feel any of my thoughts or my pains
and now im coughin up blood before i sing because im thinkin bout anything and everything that i should be fightin for cuz there's nothin more in this war that's worth diein for but somethin worth your life should be worth tryin for and i can feel this curse take over when i take the stage and i can feel this curse lettin out all of my rage but there's nothin i can do i cant stop it now now i just sit back and listen to it all come out now its taken over and the words comin out my mouth and when i look down i can see the crowd but that's all i remember cuz then i black out and when i come back in the songs already done and when i look down i see this man with a gun and i take a bullet to the left shoulder but that's all i remember because this curse jus took over and when i come back in the mans layin dead in the floor
i dont know what happen but everyones runnin out the door

they're all pushin and tryin jus tryin to get through and the more mad i get the more the curse grew but then i stopped and looked at my shoulder and the bloods going lower and lower and the blood just speeds up instead of going slower and then i crashed out for a second well it felt like 2 but then i woke up in an emergency room i was layin on the bed and had a needle in my arm and had some pills on the table that said they were from the pharm

i could tell that i died and now this curse was livin through me but i didnt know what this curse could grow up to be and this curse will get worst if i dont let it free if someone could help or at least pray for me cuz this may be the last time i sing one week later now i guess i was wrong the only thing this curse has done for me was make me strong he's singin with me, standin by my side now he's singin his lungs out knowin he don't have to hide
cursed with this curse and when i rehearse with every verse it gets worst and now its out and its loose in the world it will roam and this curse is in the world with my body as its home and i can feel that inside that im still alive then when i arrive the news'll go live and then he'll sing so step into the ring cuz this curse'll knock you down and with the s we spit you wont last the first round Devil is evil jus with a D and it feels like i got a little one inside of me
