Do you remember the day,
When we'd go wasting away,
Taking it all in stride.
Thousands of paces away,
A million sun rays,
Grazing the sands of time.

I never thought this would hit,
So close to home I'll take it.
Together always and forever,
Just like the birds of a feather.

Waiting for seasons to change,
A target within my range,
Without a shadow of doubt.
Arousing all of the fear,
Of everyone through the years.
We all know that's not what life's about.

I never thought this would hit,
So close to home I'll take it.
Together always and forever,
Just like the birds of a feather.

Through the heart, from the start.
I'll be the arrow, you'll be my bow,
Tell me tomorrow, where will be we go?

I never thought this would hit,
So close to home I'll take it.
Together always and forever,
Just like the birds of a feather.
