(Broderick / Conklin)

In my mind I see the terrible deeds we've done
Convincing of the loved MacBeth to gain the crown
All I wanted was to taste of royal blood
Beholding things of kings has me drowning in a flood of treachery

All I see is red. Staining things once pure
All I see is red. Cannot wash the stains

All I want in life is to wear regal robes and dance upon the courts of kings for a while
Cannot erase this guilt contained within my mind.
Demands a heavy price.
I pay it with my life

All I see is red. Staining things once pure
All I see is red. Cannot wash the stains
I welcome death, and the final rest it brings.
Peaceful sleep. Peaceful sleep!

I welcome death, and the final rest it brings.
Peaceful sleep. Peaceful sleep!

All I see is red. Staining things once pure
All I see is red. Cannot wash the stains

All I see is red. Staining things once pure
All I see is red. Cannot wash the stains

Goodbye, MacBeth, goodnight, my sweet
The dagger's pierce brings needed peace

"I 'gin to be awaery of the sun.
And wish 'th estate 'o 'th world were now undone."
