"The Mission"

The mission set there will be no returns as the killers head into the night they all must face the impossible climb a sheer cliff 400 feet high

Caught captive in Mondracus it seems the enemy knows their plan
Back in control and on to Navarone they leave behind a misinformed man

Six men with six days to change the tide
The guns of Navarone
Six men with six days it may take their lives
The guns of Navarone

Mondracus burns in punishment for hiding out the killers five
On this night the silent one is a traitor ans so she dies

The injured man drugged by Stolumine speaks of invasion on the southern side The guns now left alone two men move inside and lock the massive door behind

Planting explosives all around the guns a diversion from the real mother load the containment room holding hundreds of shell the elevator and they explode
