My name is Chris Palko and I'm a former patient of Stony Lodge Hospital.

You dropped me off and left me here then started your vacation

Away from me with your new family, I got no invitation If you don't think he's abusive it's because he's in your ear

If I don't see things your way then I'm not thinking clear?

I was just in your house going to school looking for validation

Pissed you off now I'm in the hospital eating medication

And if I tell 'em I don't want to take 'em that I'm still myself

But the drugs they're making me take are making me want to kill myself

And if I try and refuse meds then they force it in me Everything they write in my chart is a block of bring me

Down, why you gotta tie me down?

And kick me while I'm on the ground

There's nothing you can take from me now

Cause all I have has been thrown out

So why you gotta tie me down?

Was only trying to figure it out

I'd like to get up but I'm tied down

When you wake up drugged it's tough to get your thoughts sorted

And you realize you're tied down about to be drawn and quartered

But there's no horses about to rip you limb from limb

But the tranquilizer in your blood is what they give to them

And after thirteen hours of being tied to a bed

You're to shuffle the hallways, fuck off, and die in your head

I thought when I made it out I'd be carried and celebrated

Thought of who I was when I went in, got out, he didn't make it out
Who would think every stupid thought that you contemplated
Would convolute what was constituted as complicated.
Permanently faded, necessary that they calm you Arrive and drag yourself around for days relay the zombie life
I saw a light desperately trying to move near it But I'm plagued with thoughts, as soon as I leave I hope they tear it

Down, why you gotta tie me down?
And kick me while I'm on the ground
There's nothing you can take from me now
Cause all I have has been thrown out
So why you gotta tie me down?
Was only trying to figure it out
I'd like to get up but I'm tied down

Down, why you gotta tie me down?
And kick me while I'm on the ground
There's nothing you can take from me now
Cause all I have has been thrown out
So why you gotta tie me down?
Still trying to figure it out
I'd like to get up but I'm tied down

When I get there, let me in.
