You were always changing clothes
Torn sundress and panty hose
Crumpled up upon my floor.
And you'd abandoned all your dreams
Gave them up or so it seemed
For the chance to be my girl.

And the world won't ever change, if you only stay the same.

I'd give you the moon if I could.
I'd give you the stars if I could.
I'd give you my heart if you would take me as I am.

You were always switching roles.
Now you love me, now you don't
Like a lover in disguise.

And I was always chasing dreams, without an end or so it seemed, but I guess that's how it goes.
And the world won't ever change, if you only stay the same.

I'd give you the moon if I could.
I'd give you the stars if I could.
I'd give you my heart if you would take me as I am.

And if only stars could shine as bright as you and I
Maybe then I'd grow some wings and I could learn to fly.

I'd give you the moon if I could.
I'd give you the stars if I could.
I'd give you my heart if you would take me as I am
