

Jake Hook "Snowglobe"

Visit "Snowglobe" on MotoLyrics.com

Someone once said silence was golden
His one was Black and White
He took the time to check in
He did not see me
A day in the life
A day in the life
Someone once said, she'd cry no more tears
But that just turned out to be a lie
She carries a knife into the bathroom
She does not see me
When you're living behind glass
When you're living behind glass
A day in the life, of a man who carries a gun to the street
A day in the life, of a girl who cries those tears, no one will ever hear
A day in the life, of a woman who carries her unborn child in her arms
A day in the life, of a man, who looks like him, who talks like her, who thinks like me
A Day in the life of a woman, walking against the crowd
Afraid to raise her voice up and be proud
They take the time to conceal her
And she does not see me
She has a soul that longs to be free
When you're living behind glass
When you're living behind glass
A day in the life, of a man who carries a gun to the street
A day in the life, of a girl who cries those tears, no one will ever hear
A day in the life, of a woman who carries her unborn child in her arms
A day in the life, of a man, who looks like him, who talks like her, who thinks like me

Visit Jake Hook page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.