The bartender said "Y'all keep it down"
The party was going strong
By the palm trees down at the Tiki bar
Right there in the holidome

We'd been sitting there since happy hour
Had the day off in Omaha
All these girls came in and they wanted to swim
And the clothes started coming off

And it was alright, alright
We just got carried away
Yeah it was alright, alright
Nobody feeling no pain

Well 2 A.M., Room 509
We were all still good to go
Well we damn near blew the speaker out
Of that alarm clock radio

The hotel security man kept knocking
Till his knuckles turned red
While all those daisy duke country girls,
Kept dancing on the king sized bed

And it was alright, alright
We just got carried away
Yeah it was alright, alright
Nobody feeling no pain

Alright I gotta know
How many of y'all ever been out there
In that hotel before?
When they close that old pool bar down
Now I know y'all didn't just go
Back on up to your room
And turn on QVC
And order out for pizza

What you probably did
Was go down to that old ice maker
There in the hallway

And start filling up that bathtub in your room
With as much as ice
And as much liquid refreshments
As it would possibly hold
And pretty soon you've got a big old party going on

And you know
No whistle, no foul
No real harm done
We might've messed up a motel room
But sure did have some fun

And it was alright, alright
We just got carried away
Yeah it was alright, alright
Nobody feeling no pain

Yeah we were alright, alright
We just got carried away
Yeah it was alright, alright
Hey Nobody feeling no pain

Feels good
Woo!
Nobody feeling no pain
