Who has got just one me?
One mood. One mouth.
Not me. That's not me.
I'm one in a million and a million in one. That's me.

Sometimes I'm the One night stand in me..
Sometimes I'm the Why not make it a lifetime in me.
And sometimes I'm the No more Mrs. Nice guy in me.
And it's always the question who I will be.

I let all my me's go free.
Every day, all through the night.
This is my life.
And if the world is turning left, It's when I am going right.

Dear Mrs. President.
I'm a one girl army.
With pride I wear my stripes.
My dots, my ribbons and lace.
I'll cross your borders. Yeah,
I'll buy you something nice.
I'm one in a million and a million in one. That's me.

Sometimes I'm the One night stand in me..

Sometimes I'm the Why not make it a lifetime in me..
And sometimes I'm the No more Mrs. Nice guy in me.
And it's always the question who I will be.

I'm one in a million and a million in one. That's me.

Sometimes I'm the One night stand in me..
Sometimes I'm the Why not make it a lifetime in me..
And sometimes I'm the No more Mrs. Nice guy in me.
And it's always the question who I will be.

I let all my me's go free.

Every day, all through the night.
This is my life.
And if the world is turning left, It's when I am going
right.

Dear Mrs. President.
I'm a one girl army.
We're in control, you see.
I'm a million in one.
Try to catch one of me If you can.
It's me. So me!
