Its a boy, man-child,
a question of genes
body hair, deep voice a handful of dreams

We don't get any older
we're still stuck in school

Never felt much love until you came through
until you came through

All Good Boys
They follow their father in you
All good boys
They fought for you
They failed for you
All good boys

We can live with one another brother kills his long lost brother
brother kills his long lost brother

Little boys in charge
Don't know what to do What a waste so close but sharing's taboo

We don't get any older
we're still stuck in school

We dont get any wiser I'm still the same old mule the same old mule

All Good Boys
They follow their father in you
All good boys
They fought for you
They failed for you

All good boys

The River, the river, the river runs through from father to son
to tender the roots

The River, the river, the river runs through
from father to son
to tender the roots

All good boys
They fought for you
They failed for you

The River, the river, the river runs through
from father to son
to tender the roots

All good boys
They fought for you
They failed for you

The River, the river, the river runs through
from father to son
to tender the roots

All good boys
They fought for you
They failed for you

The River, the river, the river runs through from father to son from father to son from father
