everything you've done to me i'm gonna do to you and every time you told a lie to me somehow it came true and when you call my phone i won't be home a busy tune is all you hear you can't be mad, you're getting it back

so tell me
how does it taste now
you get a little bit of your own medicine mix it with a bit of your own element how does it feel now
tell me how does it taste
how does it taste
how does it taste

now maybe if you walk a mile in my shoes (uh huh) you just might see my point of view (oh) and i'll give anything to see the look up on your face the second you hear i've been out with someone else (oh) when you tell me you love me and i don't say it back tell me how you feel does it make you mad i wanna know, i really hope so

so tell me
tell me how does it taste

now you can take the liquid it might be a little bitter so take your time, sip it you got a whole big shot now i put a little bit of hurt in (oh) i put a little drop of pain (oh) i mix it with a bit of sorrow (oh) and a dose of hate
