Only now do I see
What it is you mean to me
Only now have I learned
What it is to be concerned
Only now can I say
What was missing yesterday
Only now

It's a long winding road
It can be a heavy load
And the people you find
May not always be so kind
But when you came along
I found out where I belong
Only now do I see

Sometimes you look so hard for what you think is real
And the world's too big a place
But then it happens all at once and there you are
Face to face...

All the hopes and the fears
That you feel throughout the years
Can be too much to bear
If the meaning isn't there
I was so much in doubt
Now I know what I'm about
Only now do I see
