

Caitlin Cary

"I Ain't Found Nobody Yet"

Visit "I Ain't Found Nobody Yet" on MotoLyrics.com

Today the sun came up in the West
And it went down in the East
If I laid awake a thousand nights
I tried to rest at least
I watch you come and go sometimes
I watch the floor for moves
The shapes in this room move so still
Just shadows of your shoes

I ain't found nobody yet
You know that did just fine
I ain't found nobody yet
They say that these things take time
I build the statues up like walls
I'm building a fortress from nothing at all

And trying to wish it away
I watch you come and go sometimes
My watch clocks the moves
I can no longer keep hearing the lies
That we can not bear to lose
I'm watching the days
All fall away like leaves
On November trees
I clearly can't see
What's in front of me
But I can't leave
I get up before the sun rises
And try not to notice the day
I wonder if I could hear what you hide
Would it be the same- Would I hear you say
That you ain't found nobody yet?

Visit Caitlin Cary page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.