Spray the masses with gunfire
Foreign pigs want to live in fear
They never learn
Light the match and flames burn higher
I need to exterminate the queers

My stomach turns
Would not heed your worthless cries
Strike with fear, no, I won't wait
Your misery, stick your fingers in my eyes
Just like somebody blind by hate
They cannot see

Prompted by my own self-doubt
I need to hate them because they're strange
They never learn

I have plucked my own eyes out
I live a life that's ruled by rage
My stomach turns, powered by elder's lies
Strike with fear 'cause I won't change your misery

Stick your fingers in my eyes
Just like somebody blind by hate
No, they cannot see

If you'd open your eyes
Then maybe you could see a figment of closed minds
You know education is the key, hate sparks will create fire
Why can't you let them be?
I see you're stoopid, blind, and I know you cannot see
