“Just Blow Me” Written By; James W Miller Canadian comedian @ Hotmail. Com copyright 2009

You blew up my soul
You blew up my heart
You blew up my dreams
Right from the start
Now just blow me

You screwed me since we first met
You bent me over I’ll never forget
You knew I loved you that it was true
You cut off my balls and left them so blue
Your heartless and evil, you have now shown
All of my friends said, I should have known

You blew up my hope
You blew up my mind
You blew up my trust
You left me behind
Now just blow me

You screwed me since we first met
You bent me over I’ll never forget
You knew I loved you that it was true
You cut off my balls and left them so blue
Your heartless and evil, you have now shown
All of my friends said, I should have known

You blew up my world
You blew up my life
You blew up my desires
To make you my wife
Now just blow me

You screwed me since we first met
You bent me over I’ll never forget
You knew I loved you that it was true
You cut off my balls and left them so blue
Your heartless and evil, you have now shown
All of my friends said, I should have known
