I know that there's much to say
I know how much the rain's coming down today
But the walk was always on my mind
And I know it's hard to get me there at times

Say what in the middle of the night
And my body's lying next to me
And my heart is on the side
Say what when you call my name
And I wonder where you are
And I wonder if this is some kind of game
What kind of game

Midnight strikes what can I say to you
Your standing there waiting for me to move
Where do I go what do you want me to do

Cause I know this isn't really you

Say what in the middle of the night
And my body's lying next to me
And my heart is on the side
Say what when you call my name
And I wonder where you are
And I wonder if this is some kind of game
What kind of game

Say what in the middle of the night
And my body's lying next to me
And my heart is on the side
Say what when you call my name
And I wonder where you are
And I wonder if this is some kind of game
What kind of game
