Oh, we know of an ancient radiation
That haunts dismembered constellations
A faintly glimmering radio station

Oh, while Frank Sinatra sings 'Stormy Weather'
The flies and spiders get along together
Cobwebs fall on an old skipping record

Beyond the suns that guard this roof
Beyond your flowers of flaming truths
Beyond your latest ad campaigns

An old man sits collecting stamps
In a room all filled with Chinese lamps
He saves what others throw away
He says that he'll be rich some day

We know of an ancient radiation
That haunts dismembered constellations
A faintly glimmering radio station

We know of an ancient radiation
That haunts dismembered constellations
A faintly glimmering radio station

While Frank Sinatra sings 'Stormy Weather'
The flies and spiders get along together
Cobwebs fall on an old skipping record
