I've been looking for some answers here
Searching harder for a new way there
I'm still walking all alone and
I don't think I'll make it home
But there is something that I know for sure

You brought me here out on my own
To find my way through things unknown
I know that I can't make it without You

When days are long, and skies are gray
I'll walk with You, You lead the way
Some say that I am lost, but that's not true, no
'Cause really I am found by You

Things they seem a little clearer now
Found the right direction here somehow
Fear is gone and trust is new
So I don't care what others do
I will give up anything I have

You brought me here out on my own
To find my way through things unknown
I know that I can't make it without You

When days are long, and skies are gray
I'll walk with You, You lead the way
Some say that I am lost, but that's not true, no
'Cause really I am found by You

Sometimes I can't feel
Is this life for real I need to know
I'm running out of hope
I'm running out of time
I need You to remind me of Your love

You brought me here out on my own
To find my way through things unknown
I know that I can't make it without You

When days are long, and skies are gray
I'll walk with You, You lead the way

Some say that I am lost, but that's not true, no
?Cause really I am found by You
Yes, I'm found by you

Found by you
Found by you
Found by you
