Let me get it straight, I should focus on the things above
So why do I insist on possessing what will only weigh me down?
You said, "Separate yourself from all the treasures of this world"
And now I'm starting to understand what I should do

I give it all away because it's what You said
Until there's nothing left, I give it all away
I give it all away, until there's nothing left
Because it's what You said, I give it all away
I give it all away

Pieces of me are all in disarray and they are only held together
By the threads I weave inside my head
But when I separate myself from all the troubles of this world
I see my cares and fears and worries all dissolve, yeah, yeah, yeah

I give it all away because it's what You said
Until there's nothing left, I give it all away
I give it all away, until there's nothing left
Because it's what You said, I give it all away

You fill the empty places with Your love
You gave it all away
There's freedom in surrendering to You

I give it all away because it's what You said
Until there's nothing left, I give it all away
I give it all away, until there's nothing left
Because it's what You said, I give it all away

I give it all away because it's what You said
I give it all away, until there's nothing left
Because it's what You said, yeah, I give it all away
I give it all away
