

Jamie Walters

"Best Friend"

Visit "Best Friend" on MotoLyrics.com

There's something about your abundant patience That shines around your face
The depths of your soul in a hundred faces that I can watch for days

Deep in your eyes are a thousand places, the stories they could tell When everything's gone to the dogs, can't face it, you bring me back from hell
Well you drag me back from hell

Well I know it's the time of my wasted life
Spun out of control in space and time
You'll be there when I need you to throw a line
Just your hands in mine

There's times when we fight and we hurt each other a million different ways
But there in the arms of another lover, I lie awake for days

The choices are endless but still they send us along the road again
But every turn we take only seems to make us the very best of friends
Well you know you're my best friend

Well I know it's the time of my wasted life
Spun out of control in space and time
You'll be there when I need you to throw a line
Just your hands in mine

Visit Jamie Walters page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.