There was a time when there was nothing at all
Nothing at all, just a distant hum
There was a being and he lived on his own
He had no one to talk to and nothing to do

He drew up his plans
Went to work with his hands
A million years passed by
And his work was done

And his words were these

Hope you find it in everything
Everything that you see
Hope you find it in you

So she had built her elaborate home
With its ups and its downs
Its rain and its sun
She decided that her work it was done
Time to have fun
Found a game to play

Then as part of the game
She completely forgot where she'd hid herself
And she spent the rest of the time
Trying find the door

Hope you find it in everything
Everything that you see
Hope you find it in everything
Everything that you see
Hope you find it
Hope you find it
Hope you find it in you

There was a time when there was nothing at all
Nothing at all, jut a distant home
