When everything you believed in
Has turned to dust in your hands
You lie and stare at the ceiling
Trying to understand

You see the storm approaching
You feel the rain on your face
But in your heart the sun is Shining all over the place
Shining all over your face
Shining all over, shining all over the place

It's your life, the moment's here and now
Take it and run
It's your time no metter when or how
Reach for the sun
It's your life the moment here and now
Take it and run
It's your time the moment's here and now

When all your days have passed you
You take a look at your life
You see your angry memories
Flashing before your eyes

You still have time to change this
You know it's never too late
So feel the light of forgiveness
Shining all over your face
Shining all over, shining all over the place

It's your life the moment here and now
Take it and run
It's your time the
moment's here and now
Reach for the sun
It's your life the moment here and now

Take it and run
It's your time the moment's here and now
It's your life
It's your life
