

Jamie Walters

"Last One Out"

Visit "Last One Out" on MotoLyrics.com

Just a man with things to say, trying to find a way to say them
Just the memories of the day, another time I was mistaken Sitting staring at the snow, trying to learn what I don't know
And whether anyone will hear me
Just another empty page, another sign of growing age Another hole in my security

Take this cup away from me, get these people off their knees
Find the man they think I should be There's no pretending anymore, last one out please
close the door
I'm alive when I feel lonely

Time to stand before the crowd, time to feed the hungry people
Taking all that I allow, the junkies and the needle Cos I have nothing more to give, just looking for a way to live
With my ever-present demons Don't believe the things I say, I'll only change them anyway
Always moving with the seasons

Take this cup away from me, get these people off their
knees
Find the man they think I should be
There's no pretending anymore, last one out please
close the door
I'm alive when I feel lonely

Leave me a little piece of me

Visit Jamie Walters page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.