The time for goodbyes is over
He won't getting older
He's leaving the same way that the came

Born to complete indifference
His death wasn't any different
Only an empty bed remained

No one smiled when the rain came
No one cried out his name
Nobody came,nobody came

I heard what the priest was saying
Just don't know to who he's praying
I don't understand the master plan

There was just me to hear him
Everyone's gone who was near him
He came and he went a lonely man

No one smiled when the rain came
No one cried out his name
Nobody came,nobody came

Like eleanor's song from the old days
He lived alone and in pain
And nobody cam,nobody came
