The softest snow falls around me
But the deepest cold is in my heart
Loving eyes that trust completely
Loving hands to hold in mine
Everything I left behind me
We've grown so far apart

I built the walls that grew around me
Watered the thorns around my soul
Always looking in the wrong place
Searching for the way they say
Now I understand I need to Find my way back home

I can feel a change is coming
Now my soul can sing and dance
Maybe now my life begins again
If you'll give me a chance

I said

Take me home
From the cold
Take me home
Take me home

I hope the little ones forgive me
I pray the pain won't last too long
Nothing I can say can make it
Seems like everything's ok
Now I understand I need to
Find my way back home

I can feel a change is coming
Now my soul can sing and dance
Maybe now my life begins again
If you'll give me a chance
I said

Take me home

From the cold
Take me home
Take me home
