"Don't look at me now"
She said with eyes that I can hardly take
'Cause I'm stuck with a smile
That doesn't fit me anymore

She said
"Who wants a life that's filled with semesters
And useless knowledge and wasted credits
You could stay here tonight, or maybe forever
And no one has to know 'cause I won't let that go"

And I can't wait to write you a letter
For everyday that I can't bear
You can fill these moments with words signed forever
But you've got to swear don't forget to remember me

She sat with a smile
That screams of tears and not another word
Gonna spend my nights either sleepless
Or dreaming about you

She said
"Who wants a life of lost adolescence
That's filled with regrets and empty depressants
I've said it before and you know that I meant it
You're all I want to know and I won't let that go"

And I can't wait to write you a letter
For everyday that I can't bear
You can fill these moments with words signed forever
But you've got to swear don't forget to remember me

And I can't wait to write you a letter
For everyday that I can't bear
You can fill these moments with words signed forever
But you've got to swear don't forget to remember me

Let's just hope that nothing happens
Wait forever, not for me
A life full of problems and last kisses
All you ever gave to me

Let's just hope that nothing happens
Wait forever, not for me
A life full of problems and last kisses
All you ever gave to me
All you ever gave to me

And I can't wait to write you a letter
For everyday that I can't bear
You can fill these moments with words signed forever
But you've got to swear don't forget to remember me

And I can't wait to write you a letter
For everyday that I can't bear
You can fill these moments with words signed forever
But you've got to swear don't forget to remember me
Don't forget to remember me
