The Cliffs

It was a warm October
You came over in my life
Secrets and questions color emotions in my life
Out of the dark you seem to shine
Your presence intoxicates my life

You, you're finding you place somehow
You're leaving a trace but now
I know there's something between us
That makes me believe in you

Fascination, exhilaration in my life
Why try and stop it
I could never drop it out of my life
Through the dark you seem to shine
Your presence intoxicates my life
But somehow I need you to know that

You, you're finding you place somehow
You're leaving a trace but now
I know there's something between us
That makes me believe in you
