This one is about whatever Whatever you need most of all right now
What it takes to make it better
To make the pieces fit, to work the puzzle out

If it takes away the worry
Takes away the pain
Then it all just might be worth it
And you will know, this one was not in vain

This one is about whoever whoever you need next to you right now
The one you feel you've known forever
One to give you give piece of mind, when the lights are out

If it takes away the worry
Takes away the pain
Then it all just might be worth it
And you will know, this one was not in vain
So take it out again

If I helps just a little
If I only a little

This one is about wherever Where you would close your eyes and be right now Somewhere that a smile remembers Somewhere that a tear still falls about

If it takes away the worry
takes away the pain
Then it all just might be worth it
and you will know, this one was not in vain
so take it out again

so take it out
so take it out again

If it takes away
If it takes away the worry

If it takes away the pain

the worry
takes away the pain
Then it all just maid be worry and you will now, this one was not in vain

so take it out again
so take it
