There's a shadow falling
Down the wall, onto the chair
Pretty soon it's gonna speed up and find me
Headed God knows where
Without a rule to follow
Without the sense to care
I never thought about tomorrow
But now I'm there
Wherever I stand
No way to see the end
Drifting too deep in water too black
To know where I am
All that I have broken
That cannot be repaired
Now suddenly is back to haunt me
But fair is fair
Wherever I stand
No way to see the end
Drifting too deep in water too black
To know where I am
Wherever I stand
Nothing to see ahead
And what will it take for me
To get back to the surface again?
Build me a bridge I can cross
Show me the steps to ascend
So that the faith that I've lost
Might be again
Wherever I stand
Nothing to see ahead
And what will it take for me
To get back to the surface again?
To know where I am
Wherever I stand
