Well listen up people
Have I got news for you
You may be having hard times in your life
But don't get down about your problems don't keep em all inside
Just let em out baby and everything will be right

You're getting low about your problems, well we've all got em
There's nothing new here
So stop complaining and start explaining
And soon they won't be near

It's high time
We've found our reason
We've found our way
We've found our season
I hope it stays

I have been at this point for so long I'm getting bored Seems like everybody's standing still They say money makes the world go round but I just see it slowing down
People being held against their will Always anticipating

Just sitting and waiting for a little change to come
You think you're so different
I think you're so ignorant
Why don't you pay a little attention

It's high time
We've found our reason
We've found our way
We've found our season
I hope it stays
