Was about the same time a year ago today
We used to say
Let's dream and run away

And in the time I spent recalling all the dreams
And all the dreams
Were just fragments of a broken heart
Today...

I remember the first time that you came to play
We used to say
Let's join souls and let it take us
To the end of time, of space and rhyme
And let nothing come between us

Then you write a song and hope so that it's yours
Through the scores
You find it's someone else
And you wait a year to see how time has lied
So we tried
You took an empty soul and gave it
Love...

And the time we spent in thought between the lines
You read my mind
You took an empty soul and gave it
Love your way, today I'll stay
You took an empty soul and gave it
Love your way, today I'll stay
And we'll start another life
Beyond the stars
Beyond the stars...
