Lately I've been thinking
How you came to be this way
You have put on many faces
Wear a new one every day

Sadly I have noticed
How you change in any light
You're a coat of many colors
And the fit is never right

Chameleon, chameleon, chameleon, chameleon

What makes you afraid to show your own skin
Do you hide within
What makes you afraid, why do you defend
Everything you've been

Never could imagine that you'd ever be
A stranger to me
You've become a phantom drifting endlessly
Moving carelessly
Never take for granted I will always see
The shades that you bleed
'Cause all you conceal won't do
Wanna see what's you, wanna see what's true, wanna see what's you

Now and then I wonder
Why you try to disappear
You are acting like a coward would Say what I want to hear

Often I remember
When you were just one someone
You can't even look me in the eye
Won't fight and you won't run

Chameleon, chameleon, chameleon, chameleon

What makes you afraid to show your own skin
Do you hide within
What makes you afraid why do you defend

Everything you've been

When you have the chance
You gotta let it go you gotta do it while you can
You need only to believe
Oh, when you have the chance
You gotta let it go you gotta do it while you can
You can
