In the warm Savannah rain
I stepped on the train
And stole away
Couldn't stay

When I finally made the choice
I had found that voice
I locked away
Everyday

Underneath a passing cloud
I began to cast some doubt
But then I felt the sun come out

With the light that burns
Auburn skies
All shines down on me
With heaven's answer
Open eyes reveal

The lessons learned along this way
The lessons learned along this way
The lessons learned along this way

Looking back I realize
There's no need to hide
From my mistakes
I won't break

Underneath a passing cloud
I began to cast some doubt
But then I felt the sun come out

With the light that burns
Auburn skies
All shines down on me
With heaven's answer
Open eyes reveal

The lessons learned along this way
The lessons learned along this way
The lessons learned along this way
