"Lost In Lies"

All in all he seemed to be ok
He was drifting in and out of perfect state
I wondered how he felt when I was gone
For so long

Maybe time has passed without a trace
The innocence had faded from his face
I wonder if he thinks of me the same
It's a shame
A memory lost in lies

If heaven was a closer place
Then heaven could help me try to erase
These etchings in my mind
How I've been so blind

If you think you've loved another

You should think it over again
I did
And I know

All in all I seemed to be ok
I shed what I had left and walked away
My fantasy consumed me far too long
It's now gone
A memory lost in lies

When heaven starts to cry
And tears fly
The memory will die
