"Never Fall"

There's a road paved with fools
Who have circled the mountain
Never reaching the peak

They have broken the rules
While their losses were mounting
And their hearts could not speak

I won't run away
Or follow in their way
It's over
I choose not to stay
Where everything is gray
It's over
And it's only begun

I stepped off the edge
But I did not fall
I have learned to fly
Now I want it all

I thought I was lost

Then I heard you call
You taught me to fly
Now I'll never fall

They are sad and confused
Giving up second chances
They forsake one another

I was feeling quite used
Still I searched for the answers
Knowing what I'd discover

Were you standing there beside me
As I trembled waiting for a sign
I looked down below me
And I knew you'd been there all the time

I have stepped off the edge
Now I'm flying forever
