Hey diggedy daggedy, what you been doin'
I been sittin' in my front room
Where people just pass through and
Don't spend no time
It's got the best furniture
It's got the best look
It's got your first impression
Better meet them there
You got a guard that keeps you out of it
Hey diggedy daggedy, what you gonna do
I'm gonna sit in my front room where nobody stays
I need to describe what's going to stay here and
What's going away
Don't you have a friend who can give you space
It's what you need right now
I'm in this moment of giving

I found the right change to take
The indescribable beauty to you
And it's not mine, it belongs to you
I'm sitting in the front room
Deciding what stays and what goes
When it's all gone
If you don't give up all your rights
You just pass along
Abandon everything you wanted
