"Nice Day"

It's such a nice day, too nice for all these Tears that I've been through
The day is dawning, the fever fades and the Blackness turns to blue

It was a long night, but now the sun is Rising in the east and I can see the trees again
Across the dawn just like a long lost friend

The fight is over, the shadows fold and Melt into the green
The morning opens, the sun appears
Like an ultra-violet dream

And now the bright dawn takes the horizon
Radiating, gently waking up and moving in
The golden light of day is here again

The day's in bloom, the world is new
The morning smiles, and bats her eyes
Heat=love, so turn it up
Yeah turn it up and burn me up

The glimmer tastes so good, I never thought it could I'll put my fists away, it's such a nice day

Birdies are singing, they stop the ringing
Roar that's filled my ears
Sweet Mary sun shines like she's been gone
At least a million years

And now the blue sky fills up with sunshine
Just to dry my sleepless eyes and sweep the worry clear
It won't be long, my morning star is here
