Ramona my love, you've buried so much
Through all of the years it still brings a tear

Ramona take heart, don't tear this apart
You draw what you need and refine what you are
But it still leaves a scar

You're taken down wordlessly, oh what you're saying
You're blinded with ecstasy's flare
And if you don't die from this there where you're laying....

Ramona prepare, your secret's so bare
Don't make that mistake, It'll push till you break

Whatever it's worth, you won't be the first
To stifle down screams and accept what it means
But it's still in your dreams

You follow down endlessly, oh where you're leading Devoured in ecstasy's flame
And if you don't die from this there where you're laying...
