Words I know won't go, they stay strapped to me
Oh I don't believe what they're saying
Circumvent my will, words that shoot to kill
Watch their secrets spill from my eyes

Though my heart was there, I stayed undeclared
Left you lying there in the cold rain
All those sighs set free, stuck my mind for me
Wreck me constantly till I shut down

And I've got to let you go and get on
But all those words I know won't leave my head alone
And I've carried them around for so long
Days come and go but words I know keep hanging on

Swords you ran through me, Boy you cut so deep
I don't ever sleep anymore
Still they swarm and seethe, rape me mentally
And they inhabit me with devotion
