Over my shoulder, no wonder to clutch
I only crave what I have not tasted, I cast off all I can touch
But you make the darkness all rosy and bright How I long to break through this window and follow you into flight

Let me fly away with you bluebird Lift my heart to heaven's high Leave the clouds behind with you bluebird Fly away and say goodbye

So farewell to madness, I've dreamed of this day Pull me tenderly from the ruins and let it all fall away

Cause where we're going, it is overflowing
And we'll kiss the morning, sweetly dawning Taste the sunshine in the rain

I've been clipped and tethered, can you help me bluebird?
Take me to the summer, break the slumber Raise me to a happy day, there are only inches in our way
