

.Calibre "The Load Off"

Visit "The Load Off" on MotoLyrics.com

these private fantasies of share and profit when did the market turn this decadent desired expertise claiming the orbit

since when are takeovers this deviant

[chorus:]
what can you afford ?
i don't wanna get my mind off things i don't wanna take the load off i wanna give this wrath a face on how the power sets the pace i will never get my mind off things i will never take the load off ahh yeah

the whitewash - a warpath compassion's - a bloodbath the new wave - comes on a billboard latitude - is what you can afford

[chorus]
we should be handling the trigger with exemplary stealth and speed or find we're caught inside the engines of their so collective need we should debate whatever we negate it keeps us locked in our submissive state wearing the uniform we're fucking clones while the enforcer keeps the gate the assembly - just cause in their accession the mission statement - in their compassion we're just a party for the rich

[chorus]

